April 2016 Newsletter

From the President

As the autumn trees begin to shine brilliantly with colour, it's a wonderful time to be out working in the garden or to sit with the sun on your back and a cup of tea in your hand. The coolness of the morning air is refreshing and we don't want to think about winter but just enjoy each autumn day as it comes. There are so many jobs to be done at this time of the year in all areas of the garden and luckily we feel a little more energetic to take on these tasks.

So, happy gardening everyone.

Judy

Guest Speaker

This month our guest speaker is Warren Walker from Wariapendi Nursery at Colo Vale. Warren is a horticulturalist specialising in the production of Australian native plants and their use in landscapes. The Nursery has been operating for 35 years and has built a reputation within the horticultural industry for pioneering innovative native plant production systems and revegetation techniques.

Next month, our speaker is Joy Elliott who will speak about her European Garden Tour undertaken last year.

Revised Itinerary for Our Bus Trip

Due to unforeseen circumstances, the destination for the May bus trip has had to be changed.

The planned trip on Thursday 12 May 2016, will now visit the delightful Glenmore House, near Camden, with a tour of the garden and house, hosted by Mickey Robertson, and followed by morning tea. We will then visit one or two lovely Camden gardens, courtesy of the Camden Garden Club, followed by lunch.

On the return trip we will visit the fabulous Wariapendi Nursery at Colo Vale. This visit to the nursery ties in with this month's guest speaker, Warren Walker. More information will be given at Thursday's club meeting. Patricia

Remember to Renew Your Garden Club Membership

Membership fees are due this month. Simplified payment details can be found on page 2 of this newsletter.

Please note: non-financial members may only be permitted to attend two consecutive meetings.

Some Autumn Jobs in the Garden

**tidy up herbaceous and perennial plants*

**dig weeds out so they don't drop their seeds*

**give your veggie garden, herbaceous borders and fruit trees a dose of lime but keep it away from rhododendrons, azaleas, camellias and most Australian native plants*

**transplant evergreen trees and shrubs*

\ pick bunches of herbs for drying*

**thin excess growth on birches and maples if needed*

**sow new lawns and don't let them dry out*

**fertilise existing lawns*

\ time to take pumpkins off the vine*

\ plant bulbs for spring colour*

**plant sweet peas after Anzac Day*

**take daphne cuttings*

\ plant cabbage, spinach, turnip, winter lettuce, spring onions, cauliflower, broccoli and leeks*

The following references were used to compile the above list and are available in our Garden Club Library.

The Kitchen Gardener – Julian Matthews

My Garden

Two mature port wine magnolias, camellia hedges, laurels, dogwoods, huge rhododendrons and a magnificent Japanese maple create dappled shade throughout Suzy's garden. Many of these mature specimens were planted by Ada Fowler, the original owner of the house which was built in 1936.

Passing through Bundanoon in 1980, Suzy remembers Jack Hopher, the bike shop proprietor, riding along the street on a penny farthing! Having a good feeling about the village and then finding a weatherboard house with a tin roof, and the framework of a garden, she decided to move her young family from Manly to Bundanoon. Suzy learnt much about gardening from her mother, who was a keen gardener.

*Like most working mothers, Suzy found little time for gardening as her family were growing up, but after a time her interest in gardening grew and when she retired changes were made to both the house and garden. Trees were underplanted with shrubs and flowers, an extensive and unique vegetable garden was established, compost bins were built, and in recent years the back of the garden has been opened up. As well, a circular garden was built which contains a large Crepuscule Rose** as a memorial to her mother.*

Wherever you wander in Suzy's garden you will come upon shady places to sit and take in the garden view; places to enjoy a cup of tea or alfresco lunch, places to sit and read, and places to relax in peace and quiet. The garden also reflects Suzy's interest in history as demonstrated by her eclectic mix of all things old-worldly, including recycled household items and other features such as a folly and a path constructed from recycled bricks from one of Bundanoon's old guest houses.

Suzy has a strong sense of community and has made a real contribution to others in a variety of areas. She was instrumental in establishing The Toy Library and The Toy Box in the local area; assisted and trained parents of children with disabilities and has been a volunteer at both Berrima and Goulburn Correctional Centres. With retirement, she has joined a painting group, and has now been elected to our Garden Club Committee. Look out for her on the "Welcome Table" at Thursday's meeting. Thank you for sharing your garden with me Suzy. Lyn

The Crepuscule Rose

**Crépuscule is a reliable, strong rose bred by Francis Dubreuil in France in 1904. It is classified as a Noisette, one of the Old Garden Rose categories. Flowering throughout the season in decorative small clusters, Crépuscule creates a beautiful rose display with intense, sweet, musk old rose fragrance. It can grow into a very large tall shrub rose up to 4m high and 2 to 4m wide. It is also capable of a semi-climbing habit and can be trained against a trellis or along a fence. This cultivar is also used as a large ornamental weeping rose and can create a magnificent display of roses on arching canes. Crépuscule is orange, fading to apricot-yellow; the name is French for "twilight", very apt given its colour reminiscent of sunset.
